PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 26.—
William Wrigley Jr., the man who through the medium of advertising made pennies grow into millions, died at his winter home here today.

The noted sportsman and chewing gum manufacturer was 70 years old. Death was caused by heart disease.

Wrigley had been ill scarcely more than a week and up until the past 24 hours his illness was not considered serious in nature.
The turn for the worse occurred last night and death came peacefully as Wrigley slept.

Owned Ball Clubs
Wrigley, who made his millions from chewing gum, was an ardent sportsman, and owned the Chicago National League baseball club, as well as the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League. Baseball was always his hobby.

At the bedside when the end came were Mrs. Wrigley, a son, P. K.
Wrigley, and his wife, a daughter, Mrs. James R. Offield, and a granddaughter, Betty Offield.

Funeral services will be held
Thursday or Friday in Pasadena,
Calif., and will be private, friends of the family said.

Power Co. Will File New Rate

Gen. Manager Round Announces Plan To Reduce
Some Rates Here

SLIDING SCALE RATE IS PLAN

Announcement was made today by L. B. Round, vice-president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Power Company, of the intention to file a new rate applicable to domestic customers in the New Castle district.

The rate is a sliding scale rate and will be available to residential customers using an electric refrigerator or an electric range of at least 2 K. W. capacity, providing all service, including lighting, is supplied through one meter.

The new rate to be filed with the Public Service Commission will obviate the necessity of two meters and consequently two bills, as under the present practice, when a customer uses lighting and an electric range.

"Room Rate"
The proposed rate is the commonly known "room rate", wherein the first steps are determined by the number of rooms. For instance a customer living in a 6 room house and using light and range, or light and refrigerator, or both, will pay for the first 30 units at 7 cents net per unit; the next 30 units at 5 cents net per unit, and all in excess of 60 units at 3 cents net per unit.
Hence it is known as the 7-5-3 rate.

positions about Dartmoor prison in anticipation of an attack upon the institution's walls by friends of inmates.

A few hours after quiet had been restored following Sunday's desperlearned a widespread plot to liberate certain of the prison's most vicious criminals through outside aid.

The attempt, according to plans, was to be made today.

The government troops manned four machine-gun nests, placed where they could fire down into the prison yard or out onto the main highways leading to Dartmoor. The men were rushed from Plymouth in speedy coaches as soon as word of the plot reached officials.

American influence was conducted into the prison by new convicts.

Discuss Plan To Stimulate Employment

Conference Is Held At City
Hall On Monday Evening

ROCHESTER PLAN MAY BE TRIED

Committees Named To Work Out Basis Of Program Here

Approximately 20 representatives of business life and trades unions met last night with Mayor Charles Mayne in city hall where preliminary steps were taken toward a possible stimulation of employment here.

A committee consisting of Clyde
Smith, Louis Haug and Walter Dietterle was named to confer with a committee for the combined trades unions to develop an employment plan and O. H. P. Brown, J. C. Gilfillan and Ivor Davis were appointed to determine how a stimulative plan could be financed.

Mayor Mayne called the meeting to order and explained that in 1927, new construction here cost $2,729,000 and repair work, $309,000. In 1931, new construction is estimated to have cost $201,000 and repair work, $43,000.

To Stimulate Work

He said he had called the men into conference for the purpose of ascertaining if work can be stimulated and to find if possible a way to finance the proposition as many property-owners here said probably need work done but cannot finance the work.

Mayor Mayne was named honorary chairman and S. De Graff Pearson was elected temporary chairman. He explained the Rochester, N. Y. plan. Pearson said that in Rochester, 10,171 citizens pledged approximately $6,000,000 worth of work.

The sponsors of the Rochester plan believed that a dollar spent for employment is better than a dollar spent in charity. No information was sent here relative to the manner in which the projects had been financed.

Finance Is Problem

Clyde Smith said the workers here must be helped. He declared that if work could be stimulated it will do as much good as relief. He said the

None Of County Poor Funds Are In Ellwood Bank

Money Tied Up There Belongs To The General Fund And Gasoline Tax Fund

COLLECTION OF BOND IS DELAYED

None of the county poor funds are included in the $147,161.74 of county money which is tied up in the closed Citizens' bank of Ellwood City, it was learned this morning.

Of the amount which is tied up, $86,286.69 belongs to the general fund and $60,875.05 is gasoline tax money. The funds were deposited in the Ellwood City bank by former County Treasurer, Adda M. Smiley.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts has insisted that this money be turned over to him in cash. Miss Smiley carried a surety bond covering the amount, but so far no official action has been taken to collect from the bondsmen.

As the matter now stands it is contained by County Treasurer Pitts that it is out of his hands, and that it is the duty of the county commissioners to proceed to collect from the bonding company.

It is now almost a month since Treasurer Pitts took charge of county treasury, and citizens are beginning to ask why there has been so much delay in collecting the money.

Affairs of the Citizens bank will not be wound up for some time. The bonding company can hardly be expected to be allowed to wait until this is done. It is up to the bonding company to pay now and wait until the bank distribution is made to be re-imbursement, it is the consensus of opinion.

Father Held In Injury Of Son

Claimed That Father Stabbed His Son During Some Trouble Today

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 26.—William D. Shillings, 49, of the New Lebanon district, is being held in the county jail here for the local detachment of the Pennsylvania State Police, pending the investigation of the stabbing of Clifford, the nineteen year old son of the former during some trouble this morning. Each blames it on the other.

According to the father, he and the son had some words and the son grabbed him. While they were tussling, the father claims he picked up a knife from the kitchen cabinet, which he pressed against the back of his son and that later to frighten the son, he raised it in an act of striking the boy with it, when the boy pulled it down and into his chest. The injuries sustained by the son are not serious. The son went to the home of a neighbor, where the state police were called and then went and arrested the father.

appearing streets of the city when in perfect condition, and it should not be allowed to become marked with holes in the resurfacing.

Eddie Stinson, veteran famous flier, who was killed in the fall of his plane near Chicago, last night, is one of the pioneers who was first seen in flight in New Castle area. Years ago, Eddie was here with one of the early types of planes, taking passengers up for short rides. Stinson and Lincoln Beachy were among the earliest of the noted fliers to be seen in this district. Beachy was killed years ago, shortly after his flights here.

For the first time in many days, the temperature is lower than it was a year ago on the same date. The January thaw was evidently being experienced a year ago this week, as the temperature was up in the fifties for several days in succession.

Local streams are falling rapidly with freezing temperatures. The Neshannock has dropped considerably, while the Shenango has fallen two feet since Sunday.

Pa Newc observes that a dangerous hole in the pavement near the Cathedral on Highland avenue has been repaired. The street caved in alongside a manhole, and a serious accident might have resulted. Heavy rains of the past few weeks have created similar conditions in many places, which the street department has been repairing.

The present cold wave will be beneficial to fruit trees, although serious damage might result from zero temperatures. It has been so warm and wet, the sap has started running in some species of trees and shrubs, and some varieties have actually burst into bloom.

Out on the East Side the old Third U. P. church is being razed. Why wouldn't it be a good idea in these days of unemployment to tear down some of the other structures standing around the city that have outlived their usefulness?

Driving from New Castle to the site of the Pymatuning workmen's camps gives one some idea of the extent of the road improvement work that is under way in this state at the present time. Miles and miles of road are being graded and surfaced.

Harbinger of coming cold weather? There was plenty of frost on New Castle roofs this morning.

Are snapdragons blooming outside a novelty at this time of year? Pa Newc would answer yes to this question, but in the Mike Wester yard on Sampson street there are several lovely blooms, with more buds yet to come out, unless Old Man Winter decides to make his appearance.

Mrs. G. H. Speed, Fairfield avenue, was attracted by a rollicking bird song in her back yard this morning, and looking out, she saw two robins cheerfully chirping away, probably discussing whether to remain and look for summer quarters, or not.

Deputy Sheriff William Reynolds is the latest to come to the front with a warm winter story. Reynolds says that he has pansies blooming in his back yard.

biggest problem which would be confronted would be finance.

J. C. Gillilan pointed out that it is the duty of the people who can afford it to have work done at this time and he explained how work had been stimulated in other places in Pennsylvania.

John J. Nothdurft said the time is growing appropriate for repairs and A. A. Hoyland said that the Building trades could launch a campaign and establish a fair rate for work done during certain periods.

He said representatives of the trades could furnish an estimate of cost to the property owner.

Compensation Factor

Louis Haug said the question of compensation would enter into the work.

J. Clyde Gillilan, said that a man who contracted for the work would not come within its fold.

O. H. P. Brown said that in his belief this section will be aided by the $2,000,000 credits to be allowed by the government and this should help obtain finance to arrange repair projects here.

The body voted for the Clyde Smith motion which resulted in a committee being named to confer with the combined trades union to formulate a plan to develop employment.

His next motion also passed. The motion gives a committee power to interview bankers, building and loan officials and persons with money for the purpose of developing, if possible, a finance plan.

It was also decided that a plan of stimulating employment could be aided greatly by keeping the public informed of the body's movements and a committee was named as follows: S. DeGraff Pearson, John Haven and Ed. Fritz.

A meeting of the men will be held next Monday night at city hall.

FANTASTIC LETTER WILL BE READ IN TRIAL AT PHOENIX

Judd claims she hid one night while police were combing that city for her.

While the prosecution contends the letter offers conclusive evidence Mrs. Judd killed her two friends in premeditated murder and is a confession on her part, the defense welcomed its introduction at the trial.

For the letter contradicts practically all of the facts testified to by the prosecution witnesses, and Mrs. Judd's attorneys indicated they would use it to support their contention it was the writing of an insane woman.

Insanity Symptoms.

If the jury accepts the statements in the letter as true in part, it must believe all that is written, the defense lawyers contend.

For at the outset and throughout the rambling missive, Mrs. Judd confides to her husband she had a mother mania. And she relates incident after incident when she pretended to have a child and even showed her friends baby pictures to make them believe she had a child.

This strange mother complex, her lawyers contend, is a symptom of dementia praecox.

Smaller powers represented on the council launched a move today to name Aristide Briand, French foreign minister and former president of the council, as successor to Sir Eric Drummond who has announced his intention of resigning as secretary general of the league.

Final decision on Sir Eric's resignation is not due until Thursday, but prevailing opinion was that he would decline to accede to the league's requests for reconsideration of his withdrawal. The smaller powers feel that Briand's prestige as a peacemaker plus his concrete ideas regarding pan-Europeanism constitute an utmost necessity in council deliberation. He has not yet been approached with a definite offer, however.

dropped off considerably, it is believed that a plan can be worked out to stimulate interest in the mayor's relief fund, which will enable them to carry on their activities through the balance of the winter.

No amount is too small to be acceptable, the committee stated today. Contributors to the fund have numbered around 200, showing that only a small portion of the city's populace have been interested in the project. If more people would give of their means, no matter how small, it would give the committee enough money to carry on through the balance of the winter.

Among the contributions reported Monday was that of $10.20 from the Syrian Ray Society, all of whom gave their mite to aid out. This same spirit can be carried out by other organizations and societies.

On the basis of this letter, which contained neither names or addresses, Safety Director Kern Dodge has ordered a search for the couple.

"This wife," the writer declared, "Has a friend who resembled Bechtel. The wife called the boy friend 'The Kid.' It will pay police to look into this."

Hackman turned the mystery letter over to police immediately after receiving it. A short study of the letter was made by detectives; later they announced that it was not the work of a crank, but a well educated person.

Panella entered the prison two months ago and had been a model prisoner. He operated a sewing machine in the clothing factory.

Authorities said he had not received any word from his New Castle folks since his imprisonment.

The three were to have escaped together but when Panella saw an opportunity to make a break for freedom he left without his companions.

MISS MARY MOORHEAD IS GUEST SPEAKER

Members of the Current Events Class '23 gathered Monday afternoon in regular session at the home of Mrs. Ed Mayberry, 715 Blaine street. Following roll-call the usual routine was in progress.

Mrs. C. W. Mayberry presided and gave an account of the federation meeting held last Tuesday afternoon in the Y. W. C. auditorium. Various committees reported on the work done by their department at this time.

The ladies in attendance were delighted with the talk given by Miss Mary Moorhead. She told how books and reading material are sent post-free from the Carnegie library in Pittsburgh, the wrappers being saved and when the books are returned, the wrappers are reversed and a gum flip with the address on is found on the inside. In this way there is nothing difficult or confusing.

It was very interesting to see the three books in Braille and also the calendar in Braille which Miss Moorhead brought with her. She is most grateful to a friend or friends who have sent her two magazines from an Episcopal publishing company in Lincoln, Neb. In concluding her talk she left the following message she gleaned from one of the publications: "We commit the golden rule to memory that is now committed to life."

Permission has been given the club to place 25 receptacles in public places about the city for the purpose of gathering tin foil to be sold for the benefit of the blind work. Two blind girls in a neighboring city are being supported in this way.

Mrs. D. T. McConahy announced a luncheon meeting to be held on February 16 at the Y. W. C. A. when Mrs. Sidney Kaufman of Pittsburgh, chairman of the international relations committee of the southwestern district of the state of Pennsylvania, will be present and speak.

In closing the meeting, the guests were favored with a splendid talk on "Citizenship and Legislation" by Mrs. W. A. Taylor, who went into detail on many interesting facts.

In two weeks the members will be received at the home of Mrs. R. T. Galbreath, 206 Leasure avenue.

STUDENT PROGRAM FEATURED MONDAY

Last night a program was presented to the Music Club in the Highland U. P. church which gave utter satisfaction to all listeners. It was the program by student members of the club with Mrs. Jay Reed as leader.

NEW STATE RECORD IN SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

MORE than 260,000 public school pupils in Pennsylvania were neither absent nor tardy during the academic year of 1930-1931. This number exceeds the total enrollment in each of fifteen States. It represents a percentage attendance of 96, the highest mark ever attained here, and compares favorably with national averages.

Although the compulsory school law applies chiefly to those boys and girls less than sixteen years old, it is interesting to note the gain in the number of minors who are voluntarily pursuing studies in high schools and colleges. The depression has been commonly accounted a cause for the larger quest of higher education because unemployment conditions tend to distribute available jobs among those who have dependents, instead of among the dependents themselves. In ten years the Pennsylvania enrollment of the 16-17 age group rose from 32.8 per cent to 48.6 and of the 18-20 group from 10.8 to 17.2 per cent.

These attendance records have been achieved in spite of more severe standards of statistical requirements. Since the war a pupil has been counted as belonging to a school as soon as he was assigned, whether he attends or not. Formerly he was not considered a member of the group until he had entered. The circumstances suggest pointedly that the real reason for the improved patronage of schools is that the work is made attractive.

SOME MORE SLOGANS

The Pathfinder, a well known Washington magazine, recently offered prizes for Republican and Democratic slogans. There were many thousand responses from both sides of the political fence. The committee appointed to select a Democratic slogan gave the first prize to this one: "Heel Haw! We're Coming Back." The second prize to "Vote Democratic and Eat Regularly" and the third to "If We Want a Change for the Better, We'd Better Make a Change." The Republican committee, made up of United States Senators Wesley L. Jones of Washington, Jesse H. McCarroll of Rhode Island and Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, selected as their first choice this: "Prosperity Is Returning—Do not Throw It In Reverse;" their second "Hold Steady;" and their third, "The Elephant Works While the Donkey Kicks."

Just as illustrations of the way the human mind works here are some more slogans submitted for the Republican prize:

"Who Wants a Donkey for an Elephant Sized Job?"
"Don't Change Doctors When America Begins to Recover."
"You'll Establish a Bad Precedent if You Fire a Good President."
"Hold With Hoover."
"Keep Away From the Donkey's Tale."
"Stay Off the Mule."
"Keep Your Head With Hoover."
"Keep the Commandments, Amendments and Hoover."
"In God We Trust and Vote for Hoover."
"Why Maneuver, Vote for Hoover?"
"If Hoover Can't, Nobody Can."
"Keep Hoover In Power, the Man for This Hour."
"Hand it to Hoover."
"Business is a Lighthouse with Hoover in the White House."
"Hold the Helm With Hoover."
"Put Hoover Over."
"Pull Through With Hoover."

BASIS OF DEBT CONSIDERATIONS

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania put his finger on the flaw in the link between reparations and war debts to the United States, when he declared that the reason, if any, for suspension of payments to this country is to be found in the economic condition of the debtor governments. Capacity to pay is not predicated upon the situation in Germany, but on the situations in the debtor countries. Moreover, as Senator Reed said, the debts owing to the United States are for loans made before there were any reparations. The obligation created was based upon quid pro quo as between the two parties to the loan.

The loans were made, too, by the people of the United States, and cancellation would fall upon the lenders. That being the case, suspension, and not cancellation, is the only feasible, reasonable consideration, since suspension would be on the basis that the economic depression is not permanent. When the world emerges from it, as emerge it must, then the interests of the creditors—the people of the United States—must again become paramount. Cancellation would mean permanent paramountcy of debtors' interests, something illogical and false.

These are matters which it is well for every creditor—every American, that is—to bear in mind says the Minneapolis Journal. And every debtor, too. Meanwhile, it is poor business to expound upon the charge that this is the first time in history that the debtors are presuming to dictate to the creditors by telling them what they will not do. Honorable statesmen and honorable informed citizens do not default, though they may participate in an effort to gain the most that can be gained in suspensions or reductions.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT IN THE OPEN

By sanctioning the submission of his name as Democratic candidate for president in North Dakota primary next March, after the state convention had unanimously endorsed him nearly two weeks ago, Governor Roosevelt comes into the open as an aspirant for the presidency—if, indeed, it can be said he has ever effectually disguised his purpose. He admittedly begins with a long lead over other candidates, but his way may not be smooth in consequence. The two-thirds rule has before this been an obstacle to candidates quite as strong as he.

There is something like a boom for Speaker Garner. It has not yet reached great proportions. There are other rivals presumably more dangerous—Governor Ritchie, for example, Newton D. Baker and possibly Alfred E. Smith. The political kaleidoscope may shift many times before the Democratic National Convention assembles in Chicago.

Among those who charge violently are rams, fullbacks and a 17-year-old buying on the Old Man's account.

All Of Us

A Dog Chased a Deer
Life and Death Went By
It Was Not Terrible

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Half way up a hill we stopped the car beside the red-earth road. We were weary of driving; we wanted to look.

The forest began where we had stopped; the clearings ended. Before us were the deep woods and the shaded spots and the furred and feathered peoples and the tall ferns and the little flowers. Behind us were the small towns and the scattered farms and the life of men who sheared the sheep and herded the cattle and ploughed the land.

It was a peaceful place to be. But the peace did not last. Suddenly we watched and dreamed, there came a stir and a clamor. Out of the brush to the north sprang a deer and a dog. Lightly came the deer; wildly came the dog. The deer was of the air, almost; the dog was of the earth. The deer made no sound at all; high was his head, and his branching horns, and quietly his white stub of a tail dotted the green of the hill. But the dog bayed as he ran; his feet clawed the earth; he was frantically pursuing the deer.

For an instant, on that green hill, Life went swiftly past and Death came clamorously behind. But there was not terror in it at all. It was stimulating. I swear that the Deer called Life was enjoying the chase. He knew he was in no danger, he knew that noisy Dog called Death could never overtake him. He tantalized that dog, he knew the helplessness of that baying beast.

And I swear the dog knew he had no chance. He chased many a deer in his life and had never caught one. This deer would be like all the others, and this chase, too, like all the rest. He'd follow that dancing creature up the hill, and over the crest, and into the woods—and there he'd lose him—and come back after a while, all weary and glad with his red tongue hanging far out over his clean white teeth—and saying to himself, "Well, I gave him a run for his money, anyway. I did, I did!"

So the Deer and the Dog were a joy to see. They made Life gay; they made Death more friendly. They took the sluggishness out of life, they took the terror out of Death.

So we stepped on the starter and climbed the red road into the deep woods and the forests were friendly all the way.

THE GRUMBLING SOLDIER

There was a grumbling soldier who growled the whole year long. What wasn't the "ought-to-be," he said, was always wrong. He didn't like his station, and he made it plain to me. That anywhere he wasn't was the place he'd rather be.

He didn't like his general; he cursed his captain, too; He saw no rhyme or reason in the chores they made him do. He wished they would transfer him to some post across the sea. For anywhere he wasn't was the place he'd like to be.

They sent him o'er the ocean with his rifle and his pack. But no sooner had he landed than he wished that he were back. He couldn't stand the tropics with the hot sun blazing down. The place to be a soldier was some good old Yankee town.

At last death's final transfer moved him on to realms afar. He drew a post in Heaven where the perfect quarters are. But hardly was he seated when he passed around the word: If St. Peter could arrange it he would like to be transferred. (Copyright, 1932, Edgar A. Guest)

GOT HIM WRONG. Able and Ike went into business together. Neither could read nor write so they engaged a stenographer to read their correspondence. They sent a salesman out on the road, and after being out a week he sent them a telegram.

Able, in the office, yelled to Ike in the next room that they had a wire from the salesman. Ike told him to have the steno read the message out loud. So she started:

"Was in Dallas Monday stop in Houston Wednesday stop in New Orleans Thursday stop—"

Here Ike interrupted by yelling: "Able, leave that girl alone and let her read that telegram!"

Seven people who are comfortable only when submerged in water are mentioned in a recent magazine article. Two brothers in Mississippi, who lack sweat glands, find it necessary to work their farm on alternate half-days, one soaking himself in the creek while the other ploughs.

Two other cases are described where the patients are sweethearts, these two being younger, who must be continually doused with water. It is said that neither of these children can sleep at night unless night clothes and mattresses are wet.

MISUNDERSTANDINGS. A picture recently appeared in a trade journal showing the various employees of a large organization, including porters, maids, elevator men, etc. Each employee was standing, holding out one of his or her hands toward the camera. The idea was, of course, to impress the reader with the fact that each member of the organization was extending the "helping hand."

Upon showing this picture to a friend, his first impression sprang from his lips involuntarily: "Well, that's according to the mode, they all have their hands out for something these days!"

In spite of efforts of newspapers in many cities and various public and private institutions to arouse the American people to the perils of motor traffic the year 1931 rolled up in the United States the red total of 34,400 persons killed and 997,600 injured, a casualty list equalling the entire population of the state of Colorado. This was an increase of 3.3 per cent in the number of fatalities over the previous year despite a decrease of motor vehicle registrations of about 2 per cent.

The 15 year record of street and road deaths from 1917 to date shows a total of 309,833 which is the most ghastly waste of human life in normal times in the annals of civilization. The annual motor-traffic rate has more than doubled in ten years. The almost certain prospect is that thousands more will be killed in 1932 than lost their lives in 1931, for nothing that is effective is being done to curb the evil.

THE ALIBI OF THE DULL SWORD. A story is related of a member of the king's regiment, who, when the battle raged the fiercest, decided that his sword was too dull, and breaking it in two, he stuck it in the ground, retreating with the excuse that if he had a good sharp sword like the king's son, he could have beaten the enemy.

It seems that the king's son lost his sword during the heat of battle, and was being driven back, but when he reached the spot where the fellow had stuck his broken sword in the ground, the king's son picked it up and leading his gallant followers, he again attacked the enemy and routed them.

Renomination Of President Accepted As Logical Step

Nomination By Republicans For Second Term Is Seen As Logical Outgrowth Of Record In Office Up To Date.

Announcement by Postmaster General Brown that President Hoover will be a candidate for reelection produces no surprise. Statements in national comment generally taking the stand that no other candidate in his own party is likely to qualify as an opponent. It is also pointed out that his record in office, his economic policies and political tradition combine to make him the logical choice of the party, with developments of the next six months the major factor in Republican success in the next campaign. "Mr. Hoover has a practically clear road to renomination; and the election is 10 months away," states the BOSTON TRANSCRIPT (Ind. Rep.), with the estimate: "The truth is that Mr. Hoover is supplying the only leadership the country knows, aside from easy demands that the government borrow and fork over five billion dollars to be handed around among the people without recourse." The ROANOKE TIMES (Dem.), suggests that "probably the severe criticism and the succession of tough breaks that he has encountered throughout his first term have but intensified his ambition to be re-elected and show the country that he really is a first-class executive."

"The announcement, thus early," according to the CLEVELAND NEWS (Rep.), "will help to smoke out party opposition, if there is to be any, to the President. Rivals for the nomination there may be in the form of favorite sons, as usual, but thus far determined opposition has not developed and does not appear as a prospect." The DEMOCRAT, on the other hand, have been busy for some time trotting out candidates who will figure in the party's affairs right up to the convention.

"It is the general expectation," according to the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS (Ind.), "that the response to the announcement will make it plain that the influential party leaders will proclaim their allegiance to the Hoover standard." Asserting that the candidacies of Senator Johnson of California, and Senator Borah of Idaho "are not to be taken seriously," the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION (Rep.) advises that "we have the admission from his strongest political opponents of the opposing party that the President is not to blame for these trying times" and holds that "he has shown strength and constructive ability of high order."

Observing that the announcement is made in connection with queries about the North Dakota primaries, the NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE (Dem.), offers the statement as to the situation: "Word comes that the North Dakota senators have been urging Senator Johnson of California to try his political luck by contesting for North Dakota's delegates to the Republican convention. They are not themselves 'sold' on the Hoover candidacy and apparently believe that their constituents will vote their disapproval thereof, if a suitable opposition candidate will enter the North Dakota primary. That state's delegation in the national convention is not large, but the fact that its presidential primary leads all the others give the primary result some value as a preliminary test of Republican sentiment. If North Dakota Republicans are as strongly 'anti-Hoover' as some reports have pictured them, the President's indecision about entering their state primary needs no other explanation. But Senator Johnson also is 'undecided' according to report, so maybe all hands are awaiting clarification of North Dakota's political atmosphere."

"It is simply too bad," in the opinion of the ST. LOUIS TIMES (Rep.), "that any weaknesses in the Hoover candidacy are due to circumstances not at all local to this country. No one government could hope to avert from its people the penalties of bad economic conditions which many nations had created. This is not a job for any one nation and much less so for any one man. Mr. Hoover will be credited with having made a noble effort, but will have to stand or fall upon actual results shown. The inevitable necessity for explanations is not an element of strength."

"Hoover is the logical candidate of the Republican party," says the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS (Ind.). "The two-term tradition, if nothing else, makes him so. It is the party's duty to support him through thick and thin. As for his chances to be re-elected, the developments of the near future will tell the story. Let conditions grow worse or remain as they are, and he will have a tough time. Give him one good break and his prospects will be immensely improved. Incidentally, the early announcement of his candidacy may be accepted as good news in considering the prospect of better conditions. It is a kind of wager on the next six months. They will be important months for Hoover—and for practically everybody."

"The man behind the only constructive plan for relief anybody has as yet offered deserves the support of the party whose leading exponent he is," comments the HARTFORD TELEGRAPH (Rep.), while the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS (Ind.), in the course of a discussion of the prospects, declares: "The President has stuck to his job as long as a man's resume with successes for which history is not his contemporaries, will give him credit. He is upholding the power and the dignity of the United States in its somewhat hectic foreign relations. If he is deplorably lacking in a sense of the dramatic and suffers in consequence by failing to advertise himself successfully, he has at least the dubious satisfaction of knowing that in the past he has been egregiously over-advertised through the strange workings of an ironical fate. He asks for another term of office. It is a common saying that every President is entitled to a second term. No President, however, is entitled to reelection unless he deserves it on his official record. If the nation now has a better man than Mr. Hoover for the job, the American public will welcome his candidacy. There is, however, at this time a painful scarcity of available great men."

WINTER EXERCISE

In summer you may be active in an athletic way because you enjoy certain line of sport but in winter you give up physical exercise out of doors.

You gain in weight and become less energetic in the cold weather.

Before the winter is half over you don't feel right, your digestion is poor, you have headaches and frequent colds.

In fact you catch cold easily and are ill a long time with it.

You seek to avoid every thing that requires physical effort and want to hibernate and yet you can't seem to concentrate your mind to the point of beneficial study.

Lazy and out of sorts, you avoid the crisp cold air all you can.

How can you be so short-sighted?

Force yourself to walk in the open air more than in past winters.

Leave the car at home and walk to work.

If you must ride to your job get out and walk after dinner at night.

Do some exercises before breakfast before an open window.

Do something to get fresh air in your lungs and purify your blood.

Inaction clogs your system and makes you an easy victim of colds.

Exercising outdoors only in summer is a poor plan to follow.

While the world is struggling to overcome the present depression, the Canadian Northwest territories are classed as a land free from poverty and unemployment. In the territories which comprise two-fifths of the total area of Canada, there are about 1,000 white men, including traders, trappers, prospectors, rivermen, and around 5,000 Indians and Eskimos. The country is practically self-sustained since each man grows his own vegetables, and the wild game provides plenty of meat and clothing for the skilled hunter. Doctors are the only professional men, and they are subsidized by the government to guard the health of the Indians, and there are no lawyers.

If surface indications are borne out by results of mining developments work in the Great Bear Lake district now under way, the country will be the richest in Canada. Quality and extent of the field will be known by next autumn.

PEIPING, Jan. 26.—The League of Nations council is meeting again to discuss the Sino-Japanese conflict over Manchuria but the Chinese people are evidencing little interest in the council proceedings at Geneva and even less hope of any substantial aid.

This is true because Japan has strayed so far from the original league resolution, demanding she withdraw her troops inside the southern Manchuria railway zone and makes no attempt to restrict the number of troops in Manchuria, and likewise because of the improbability that the league will drastically resort to article 16 of the league covenant, calling for a boycott of Japan. Even if this action were taken America would not be likely to support it.

tarly and economically her stranglehold on Manchuria.

Should the league act vigorously there would be no need for the dispatch of a neutral commission of inquiry which is unlikely to be beneficial to China after arriving in Manchuria by slow travel across America and Japan.

I admit the plausibility of Japanese official declarations relative to their operations in Manchuria. However, such arguments must appear spurious when the world realizes the Japanese ignore China's right to sovereignty over Manchuria.

Chinese Involved.
When General Honjo, the Japanese commander in Manchuria, speaking over the radio for International News Service last week, declared Manchurian officials had "sucked the people dry," he avoided the basic fact it was the Chinese alone who were involved which was none of Japan's business.

Does Japan realize that by dispatching landing forces to Shanghai and Tsingtao she is deflecting the attention of the Chinese government which might better be employed against the communistic menace in the Yangtze valley? By her actions she is directly assisting the growth of the red menace in China.

This is calculated to disrupt trade in the Yangtze valley where American and British interests are greater than Japanese.

DANDRUFF A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Mrs. Hugh Herndon Has Narrow Escape From Big Octopus

Wife Of Noted Flier Has Trying Experience With Octopus Off Bahamas Beach

(International News Service)
HOBOKEN, N. J., Jan. 26.—Hugh Herndon, around-the-world flyer, accompanied by Mrs. Herndon, arrived here Monday aboard the liner Statendam from a wedding trip in the Bahamas. Fellow passengers revealed Mrs. Herndon narrowly escaped death when she was gripped in the tentacles of an octopus, while swimming off Sandy Key.

Swimming off the beach where her husband and members of their party were lounging, Mrs. Herndon felt something circle through the water and try to coil itself around her legs. She screamed and swam for shore.

Her screams attracted the attention of her husband who raced to her side just as the octopus was trying to drag her under the water. A blow from the stick Herndon carried in his hand stunned the octopus enough that they were able to drag him ashore and present him to the Aquarium in Nassau.

Controversial School Subjects Would Be Banned

Pittsburgh School Board Member Says Schools Should Not Be Battleground

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26.—"Controversial subjects like the League of Nations and the prohibition question should not be fought in the schools," maintains N. R. Criss, board of education director here.

He further stipulated that no more essay contests would be held in the public schools unless they originate with the principals. Criss then decreed that the subject for the essays should be "of general interest."

His statements were occasioned by a request of Mrs. Sidney Kaufmann, of the international relations committee, to hold an essay contest on the League of Nations. The plea was turned down.

Criss, in announcing his refusal, said: "Not only do these contests take up too much of the pupils' time but controversial subjects like the League of Nations and prohibition should not be fought in the schools."

Diet For Older Child Should Contain Variety

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The basic articles of diet for the younger children are also the staples for the child from five to seven. Milk, cereals, eggs, green vegetables and fruits should predominate in the diet. Sweets and pastries and all starchy and vitaminless foods should be kept in the background.

Meat may be added gradually and slowly to the diet. Meat is rather like sugar in that it spoils the appetite for other and more valuable foods. Nor is it as complete or economic food as other things. Bread and milk contain more easily available calcium and other salts and vitamins. But some meat should be added to the growing child's diet.

As we grow older, up to 50, meat becomes more and more a desirable element of the diet.

With schooling started and a regular schedule of work each working day, the dietary will have to conform to these necessities.

The time schedule is now the same as the adults—three meals a day. The general plan of the dietary may be the same, allowing the child to partake of what its elders eat. Milk, however, should still be a staple part of the child's diet. The period of infancy when the digestive tract was easily upset is over. Growth proceeds have been established and dietary errors are not so rapidly or certainly followed by tribulation. A child started well in bone formation, an apple (50 calories), 1 cent; 790 calories, 15c.

These are actual quotations from the lunch served at a New York high school, where the pupils are taught to buy adequate lunches at low cost.

One important feature of feeding the older child is to cultivate a taste for a variety of foods. Habits are easy to form at this time and if your child learns to like all kinds of food you are saving a lot of trouble for somebody in the future. Members of a family who "won't touch this or that" are the bane of the housewife's existence.

A good book, issued by the United States department of agriculture, is Farmer's Bulletin No. 717, "Food for Young Children."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

THIN without starving

The Modern Way

Do you know that multitudes of people, nowadays, lose excess fat without starving? Look about you, note how slenderness prevails. Everywhere you see the amazing results of this new way of treating obesity.

Modern science has discovered that a great cause of excess fat lies in a weakened gland. That gland secretion helps turn food to energy. When it is lacking, fat piles up and vim goes down.

Doctors, the world over, now find that lacking factor to the overweight. And the method has largely changed the world.

Marmola prescription tablets present this method in right form, at small cost. A famous medical laboratory prepares them for that purpose. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. The slender figures which surround you now are due largely to the factors in Marmola. Modern doctors know that.

No secrets about Marmola. A book in each box gives the formula—tells you exactly why the formula works and vim comes up.

Go try this method. All other ways are bound to fail if this gland cause is not corrected. Ask your slender friends who have used Marmola. Go do what they did—now.

The Parent Problem

by our tone or gesture, even by our looks.

One of the most disastrous things we are prone to say it, "I don't think you should because—" Nearly always, "No." The child converts us to his wishes, even against our better judgment, having his way while we go on, half angry, telling him he should not, with a kind of feeling of self-justification that we had warned him not to do so. If, in such an instance, after reflection, we regain courage angrily shout, "No," he may be challenged to open defiance, or may surrender finally with great grief, hatred or rebellion.

We can prepare ourselves for these trying times by often thinking ahead. The best preparation comes when we parents think aloud together about such matters when the child is not around. Frequently we can foresee some requests which will surely arise to which we shall want to say "No." To be entirely ready, each parent knowing exactly what he will say, will save us parents and our children from many needless worries and annoyances. Children like adults, find it relatively easy to submit to the inevitable; it is doubt that drives them to disobedience and defiance.

Let us teach the child at a very early age the meaning of "No," with finality. Then rarely use the word, making its employment approach zero as the child advances in his teens.

Apple Growers Aided By State

Fruit Growers In Fifty-Two Counties Learn How To Spray Against Disease

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 26.—In 52 counties 5578 fruit growers last year received information on how to protect their apples from the ravages of diseases, Dr. R. S. Kirby, extension plant pathologist, reported today.

Explaining the value of spraying, Doctor Kirby said that in the past three years plant pathology extension specialists have visited 910 orchards. In the 430 orchards where spray recommendations were followed completely there was only 2.46 per cent disease; in the 370 improperly sprayed orchards there was 16.8 per cent diseased fruit, and in the 110 unsprayed orchards visited 80.2 per cent of the apples were scabby, 24.2 per cent were affected with sooty blotch, 6.82 per cent with Brooks fruit spot, 2.56 per cent with blotch and one per cent with minor diseases.

In the improperly sprayed orchards, omission of sprays caused 16.2 per cent disease, poor methods of spraying resulted in 38.2 per cent disease, use of substitute materials caused 11 per cent disease and poor timing resulted in 28.5 per cent disease. Spray information service also was extended last year to 1626 peach growers in 11 counties, 464 grape producers in one county and 243 cherry growers in one county.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

There is a name that still lingers in the minds of many New Castle people as a result of the long continued life of a certain business house that existed in the younger days of the city and only ceased its long existence a few years ago. It was the well known J. N. Euwer's Sons' department store. J. N. Euwer came to New Castle in 1834. He with Samuel Euwer established the merchandising business, which grew into a department store and for many years was one of the leading business houses of the city. It was conducted from the start to the finish by one generation of the Euwer family. The founders were succeeded by J. C. Euwer and Brothers, the former of whom was born in New Castle in 1838. In the course of years the firm changed to J. N. Euwer & Sons.

Eventually it became known as J. E. Euwer's Sons' Sons. In 1881 two sons enlarged the business by opening a second store and both were operated in connection until 1900. When the triangular annex was opened on South Mill street, it became the largest store in the city, by reason of the general department store at the Washington street location and a furniture business in the annex. Harry G. Euwer was the last of the name to actively engage in the management of the business. He retired from business here some years ago and is now located in California.

Former 28th Division Men Meet To Form New Society

Former members of the 28th Division who saw service overseas in the late war were today discussing the subject of a new military men's organization following a meeting in the armory of Troop F Sunday when a group of former buddies met, some of them for the first time since the war, to discuss plans for the organization.

The gathering of Lawrence county men, a great many of them one time members of old Troop F, which saw service from the outset of the war, held considerable interest.

Among those present was Thomas Gillespie of Pittsburgh who arrived in New Castle to attend the meeting. Gillespie, one time member of "F" was separated from the rest of his outfit when the troop reached Augusta, Ga. He was transferred to the 103rd Engineers, while other members of the troop were placed in other branches of service. Gillespie saw some of the former troop members at this meeting for the first time since old Troop F left in the summer of 1917. One of these men was Capt. Harvey G. Bintrim, commander of the present troop, who was assigned to the 107th Field Artillery and met Gillespie Sunday for the first time since the outbreak of 1917.

The gathering at the armory discussed the possibilities of forming a branch of the rapidly forming Society of the 28th Division, recently organized at Mt. Gretna, and of which John H. Shenkel of Pittsburgh is vice president in the western department.

Discussion also centered about two members of Troop F who died in service, Claude Kale and Daniel Ashton. Ashton's body was brought to this country, but that of Kale was left in France. His former buddies are now preparing to lay plans to bring his body back to this country.

Among those present at the meeting were Frank Sargent, Thomas Gillespie, Homer Measel, Lester McClelland, Harvey G. Bintrim, and Lewis Conn. Former 28th Division men say there are about 100 in Lawrence county who are eligible to join the society which is now in the stage of formation.

A meeting will be held in the Neshannock avenue armory early in the afternoon on Sunday, January 31, at which time it is planned to make additional preparations for the new chapter of the Society of the 28th Division. Those expected to come next Sunday are:

Ernest James, Bert James, J. N. Hilliard, Fred Glenn, Harold Blewitt, Edward Cross, Roy Evans, Earl Hiler, James Thomas, Norman Miner, Howard Elder, Harry McCormick, O. J. Davies, Fred Brettell, William Osbel, Howard Harper, Arthur Jordan, Charles Hogue, Paul

See Need Of Center At Pymatuning Camp

Visitors at the Pymatuning camp operations have expressed an opinion that, although the men on the job are contented with their lot, there is a widespread need for an agency, such as a social center, at the camp.

Such a center for the men was suggested today by General Secretary R. L. Meermans of the Y. M. C. A., who was also instrumental in the job registering, being superintendent of the local state co-operative employment office.

Meermans said that the men from Lawrence and other counties are kept a great deal to themselves and that there is a widespread need for a tent house, such as the present camp hospital, where the men could gather for such simple entertainment as that provided by a radio receiver or the playing of indoor games.

Although newspapers are being received, Meermans said that magazines and even books could be provided for the men if there were a social center, to which the men could go after their day's work.

It could even be arranged, Meermans said, to have members of the city's ministerial association, who, he said, have always been willing to aid, to hold service at the camp.

Magazines or other reading matter for the workers may be sent to the Y. M. C. A., from where they will be forwarded to the Pymatuning job.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Massed forces of police, detectives, and insurance company guards failed to prevent another jewel robbery in the city's fashionable district today. Loot of more than $1,000,000 in precious stones, brooches, and other articles taken from Mrs. Stevens' bedroom. However, the thieves, who made their entry and exit unobserved, worked so hurriedly they missed a much larger collection of jewels in the room and a wallet containing a considerable amount of cash.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney, stirred by the many jewel robberies in recent weeks, intimated a "shake-up" in the police department was imminent.

Rev. Oscar Woods Resigns Pastorate

Pastor Of Bethany Lutheran Church The Past Five Years, Will Go To Dravosburg

REV. OSCAR WOODS

It is with regret that the congregation of Bethany Lutheran church, East Washington street, has accepted the resignation of Rev. Oscar Woods, who has ministered to the spiritual needs of the members the past five years.

Rev. Woods has accepted a call to Dravosburg and will fill the pulpit there for the first time on February 7. He will move his family to that city next week.

During Mr. Woods' pastorate here he has been most enterprising and the congregation has made substantial progress. One special feature of the pastorate was the establishment of the Adity Vacation Bible school, which was conducted through the summer, under the supervision of Rev. John Woods, pastor now at Coudersport Lutheran church, and Luther Woods, who is now a student in the Chicago Seminary, both sons of Mr. and Mrs. Woods.

Mrs. Woods has been a great help to her husband in his ministry, as she was trained for a deaconess and the congregation here has heard many a splendid sermon from her lips.

The past three or four months Rev. Woods has been doing supply work at Beaver Falls and Ambridge as well as carrying on the work at Jerusalem Lutheran church, near Princeton, of which he was also pastor.

Sunday Rev. Woods will preach at Ambridge for the morning service; at 2:30 p. m. he will deliver his farewell sermon to the Jerusalem congregation; at 6:30 he will make the farewell address to the Bethany Lutheran church and at 8 p. m. he will be guest preacher at the Finnish Lutheran church, South Ray street.

Some Canadian papers are debating whether or not farmers should wear spats, indicating that the farmers down this way are not the only ones who are getting cold feet.

Westminster "Old Main" Fire Just 5 Years Ago

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 26.—Five years ago, on the first morning of first semester final examinations, January 24, 1927, Old Main, main structure of Westminster College, was completely destroyed by fire of unknown origin. Yesterday, as the 528 students of the college gathered to start the first semester final examinations, the new structure, Old Main Memorial, in use now for two years, was used as the scene of the examinations.

Only the faculty members and a few seniors who dropped out of school a year and returned to the college group remember the disastrous fire of that early January morning in 1927. The college family was noticeably discouraged as the old building was devoured.

A special meeting of students and faculty was held in the local United Presbyterian church later in the morning. Following this, a special meeting of the faculty was held. Plans were made to go ahead with semester final examinations.

(International News Service)
WELLSVILLE, O., Jan. 26.—Thomas A. Sheets, 45, cashier of the People's National bank and a leader in business and civic affairs, today was to be taken to Cleveland to face charges of falsifying bank records.

Sheets was arrested by Chief of Police John A. Fultz on information referred by federal investigators. Mahon said Sheets had listed certain bonds at about $40,000 over their actual value.

The cashier had worked in the bank for the past 30 years, and was regarded as one of the most prominent residents of the city.

"This is the hardest thing I ever had to do," Chief Fultz said. "It was like arresting my own father."

There Isn't Any "Buchanan Estate"

The hopes of many Buchanan "heirs" in and around New Castle getting a share in the huge estate which they have been told President James Buchanan left in New York seemed dashed today as Governor Franklin Roosevelt of New York issued his third denial that there is any such estate.

Roosevelt said he and New York City officials had been deluged with inquiries from hundreds of persons all over the country who hoped to establish a claim to the real estate, which they believed President Buchanan owned in New York, and which was supposed to be under long-term leases. The claimants hoped, he said, to get various pieces of property, including Times Square, and the sites of Trinity church and the Chrysler building. There is no hope of any such estate, Roosevelt said.

Roosevelt's announcement included a letter from Surrogate John A. Foley of New York City saying that most of those inquiring had been duped by promoters who collected from $15 to $200 from them.

BY THE SUCCESS REPORTER

JOHN HELD, Jr.

QUESTION: How do you explain your success in interpreting the spirit of modern youth?
ANSWER: I set out to caricature the foibles of the modern younger generation, their pa-pas and their ma-mas, and much to my surprise, I struck the popular fancy. The young boys and girls of today amused me with their extravagant gestures, their open state of mind, and their freedom from the inhibitions of their elders. These are brave, as well as amusing, and I like that. I draw them in broad strokes, caricaturing them as I see them. I must have hit something on the human side, for the depicting of these youngsters created an increasing audience for my work.

mined the Harmony's business by operating illegally and by unreasonably slashing rates between New Castle and Pittsburgh.

Complaints Filed.
One issue was a complaint filed by the Harmony Line against Keis, charging he carried freight between New Castle and Pittsburgh without a certificate of public convenience. The other case was an application of Keis for a certificate to haul between Sharpville in Mercer county and Pittsburgh.

McCall offered spirited opposition to the application, contending that enough business did not exist for two firms along the route. He said the Harmony Company would have to retire from the freight hauling business if Keis' application was granted.

Young Makes Plea.
Charles H. Young, represented Keis. He maintained sufficient business for two firms existed between Pittsburgh and New Castle, declaring there was no danger of the Harmony Company going out of business if Keis was granted a certificate.

Young pointed out that the City of New Castle opposed the Harmony petition to carry freight to and from that municipality, while the Keis application was not opposed by the city.

Counsel for the Baltimore and Ohio, the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie and the Pennsylvania Railroad Companies opposed the granting of further hauling rights paralleling the rail lines, contending the railroads were furnishing adequate overnight service for less than carload lots between Pittsburgh and New Castle.

Report Thousand In El Salvador Killed As Communists Riot

(International News Service)
COLON, P. C. Z., Jan. 26.—Hundred have been slain, possibly thousands, in the communist revolt sweeping the little republic of El Salvador, according to word received here today through strict censorship lines.

More than 2000 were killed in one battle outside San Salvador, the Capital, according to one unconfirmed report from Guatemala city.

Reports from various sources, including word of travelers just arrived from the strife-torn republic, agree the number of deaths is well above 500. Due to inaccessibility of the interior, where fighting was heaviest, and to strict government censorship on all but business messages the higher estimates were readily agreed possible.

Terrorism prevailed as communists marched through interior cities, killing ruthlessly. Many prominent officials were said to have been victims as well as business representatives of foreign nations.

Warships Ready
American, British, and Canadian warships stood by awaiting definite word of danger to citizens of their countries.

Reports conflicted as to whether the movement was purely communist, or whether the reds had been joined in a general political uprising by all factions opposed to the government.

Private citizens of San Salvador were given arms and permission to shoot to kill communists on sight.

An official report from the Capital stated there was "considerable fighting outside the city, but the situation is well in hand."

Forty-four, or 86 per cent of the 51 operators on the coach lines, which serve and connect Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Canton, Warren and Niles, Ohio, and Sharon, New Castle, and Greenville, Pennsylvania made these no-accident records in the last six months of 1931 and they with their wives will be the guests of honor at the dinner meeting in the Parkman community hall where they will meet with officials of the company and invited guests.

Dinner music will be furnished by the Penn-Ohio orchestra under the direction of Frank Woods and a program of entertainment will follow the dinner. Pierre V. C. See, Vice President and General Manager, will preside and there will be short addresses by R. H. Bostwick, Executive Attorney of Geauga County, and by R. N. Graham, Vice President of the Coach Lines.

Not only was the record for the second half of 1931 on the Penn-Ohio lines outstanding in highway safety, the record for the entire year was the best since coach operation started a little less than ten years ago. Forty-one, or 80 per cent of the 51 operators went throughout the year with accident-free records. In this period they carried 1,900,101 passengers and operated their vehicles 2,580,688 miles, or an average of 151,804 miles per chargeable accident, equal to encircling the earth six times for each of the seventeen accidents which possibly could have been avoided by the drivers.

The forty-four operators who will be honored at the Parkman celebration operate out of Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown and Canton and are: John Baker, Joseph Billings, J. T. Bowling, H. E. Boyles, W. D. Boyle, K. B. Burton, C. F. Cunningham, John Cuddy, R. F. Downey, W. E. Earley, L. R. Elliott, W. J. Fenchel, H. H. Foerster, R. F. Fritzche, R. R. Ferguson, H. B. Gardner, George Glassford, J. K. Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

If ever you get an invitation to a dinner in New Wilmington, accept it before they change their minds. Whether it's a pancake dinner, or just an ordinary eating festival grab it for they put on some tasty affairs in the City of Culture.

Last night the New Wilmington Rotary Club had District Engineer Kloos of the State Highway Department as the speaker of the evening and dividing the evening into two halves, eating and orating, we find the score is 100 per cent.

The meeting was not confined to the Wilmington Rotary Club and a lot of the boys from Pulaski, New Bedford and Volant were present. New Bedford sent over its entire city administration, Mayor Zedaker and Chief of Police McClenahan. Pulaski had Doc Taylor and Jim Buchanan there and Volant sent over Phil Cox and Simson.

Learn one new thing each day. This one about hens. Jim Buchanan specializes in hens and their by-product but it seems that different folks like different colored eggs, some brown and some white. Result is that he has some of the biddies in production turning out the brown ones and some the white ones.

Laugh at this if you want to, but I had always assumed that a hen laid an egg the color of which she paid little attention to. If she felt like it she just up and laid a brown egg, and the next day might come back with a white one. Not so it appears. The white eggs are laid by the American strain of birds and the brown ones come from those whose ancestors came over on the Mayflower.

For instance a Leghorn hen. Centuries ago the Leghorn hens came from the same place the hats came from, Leghorn, Italy. They have to lay brown eggs, appears it is in their contract. Now a Plymouth Rock, well you know Plymouth Rocks, their eggs are white.

One thing Jim didn't explain was why a black hen will eat yellow corn and then lay an egg which is neither color. Or why a black and white cow will eat green grass and yellow pumpkins and then give cream colored milk.

Doc Calhoun was the chairman of the meeting and back in his family tree there's a limb that is Scotch. He told one on one of the clan which concerns a Scotie who took a trip to a neighboring city and registered at a hotel. Raising the window blind he looked across the street and saw a large illuminated clock, wherewith he stopped his watch.

It was a pleasant evening. Somehow New Wilmington has an atmosphere about it that no other place in the county has. Perhaps it is the influence of the college but whatever it is, the boro has something that we like.

Rosy White the postmaster was receiving congratulations upon his third term appointment. This makes his third offense up there. Under the new state law, a fourth offense felony is liable to get you life.

Wreckers are making matchwood out of the old Third U. P. church on East Washington street. Already half of it is stripped and it won't be long until the old place will be just a memory.

A lot of history and sentiment and religious progress are a part of the timbers of the old building. Years ago it was almost an out-post church on the far east side. Then the district built up, the church got a pastor who combines salesmanship with religion and the wooden church was too small for the congregation. The handsome new brick church a square east on Adams and East Washington streets is the successor to the little old wooden church, but it will take years to build as many memories into the new one as the old one contains.

Stinson's Death Is Mourned Here

Flier Was One Of Earliest To Appear In New Castle District

New Castle remembers Eddie Stinson, internationally known flier who was killed in an accident in Chicago yesterday, for his daring in the early days of flying. When airplanes were first coming into public favor, Eddie Stinson barnstormed the United States along with such fliers as Lincoln Beachey and others.

He flew an exhibition flight at New Castle and in those days of flying every trip into the air carried potential death with it. He had been a figure in flying circles for many years and was one of the pioneers. Some years ago he entered the manufacturing end of the flying game, but still continued as a pilot.

Kidnapers' Victim

After five days of captivity, during which he was kept bound and blindfolded in a mountain cabin, Benjamin P. Bower, 62-year-old kidnaped baking company executive of Denver, Col., was released by his abductors from an automobile in West Denver. Though no money had been paid, Bower said he gained his freedom on promising to pay his kidnapers $30,000. If he fails to pay, the gang threatened to "look him up again."

Hymnal Revision Of Local Interest

Methodists Wish To Insert Songs Of Social Service And Brotherhood Into Book

Although the old Methodist hymns are tuneful and have a wealth of meaning, for the past decade there has been dissatisfaction with many songs contained in the denominational hymnal.

At the general conference held in 1928 in Kansas City there was a committee of fifteen, laymen and ministers, appointed to look into the changes most desired, and during the past four years they have worked diligently to get hymns that will please the younger generation as well as the "old time Methodists."

What seemed to be the general complaint was the lack of hymns expressive of social service and brotherhood, and they will remedy this.

Dr. C. G. Farr, district superintendent of New Castle, and Dr. W. A. Womer were appointed delegates to attend the Atlantic City general conference, which will be held in May and at this time, reports will be made and a hymnal adopted.

Mr. Eynon is known to every motorist at least by reputation. His signature appears on every driver's license and the total number of times his name has appeared on cards and licenses and titles in the past ten years runs into many millions.

The meeting will be for the election of officers for the club and every member of the New Castle Motor Club is urged to be present. The meeting will open at seven thirty and a buffet lunch will be served at the close.

The Night Call

BOB yawned wearily. His new job left him exhausted at the end of a day. Hauling heavy crates, stooping and straining, was no part of a machinist's training. But it wouldn't be for long, he hoped.

As he started for bed, the doorbell rang. "Wanted on the telephone," said the boy from the corner drug store. Bob groaned and struggled into his overcoat. Who would call him this late at night, he wondered.

The first words over the telephone told him, "Say!" Bob heard his old boss of the machine shop exclaim. "Do you want your job back or not? I'm tired of holding this telephone!"

Bob laughed. "You bet I want the job. And don't worry about holding the telephone. From now on I'll have one at home!"

As an everyday convenience, the TELEPHONE is worth many times its low cost. In emergencies it is priceless.

Find Inventors Stray From Own Field Of Work

Invent Labor Saving Devices Which Are Used By Men In Other Industries

CONVICTS AMONG INVENTORS LISTED

By GENE MYERS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26.—A bank lock patented by a convict, and a mechanical oyster opener conceived by a business man are included in the "contrary to vocation" inventions to be shown at the third international patent exposition which opens in Convention Hall here February 1 to 10.

Latest thing for the kiddies—pinless, rubberized diapers invented by a society matron—also will be displayed.

Emphatic denial of the old saw, "There is nothing new under the sun," was voiced by Al Green, chief display clerk at the exposition. Green is receiving hundreds of novel and unique devices to be used for display purposes.

Many Gadgets Shown
Contrivances and gadgets for every perplexing problem ranging from easy opening of the garage door to protecting milady's fingers from stain are to be exhibited.

"It isn't the newness of things that intrigues me," Green admitted. "It's the inventor's predilection for letting his emotions run riot, for creating something entirely removed from his usual avocation."

"One would naturally assume that a carpenter or joiner would invent something beneficial to his trade. And you might suppose that an electrical engineer's inventive genius would find outlet in conceiving something applicable to his profession. The carpenter is just as likely to patent a new safety pin, or the engineer a gadget for a lady's girdle."

Old Maids Aid Men
"Among the many models we have already checked will be found an attachment for an automobile steering wheel, patented by a girl stenographer; a foot-rest, invented by a laundress; a safety cow-catcher for railroad locomotives, conceived by an actor; a combination razor-hair-cutting-clipping machine, designed by a tailor; an indoor baseball game, perfected by an elderly bed-ridden lady—and a man's suspender buckle, invented by three maiden ladies!"

Although the horse is more or less passe as a means of transportation, one inventor has patented an adjustable horseshoe which can be attached in less than a minute by means of a heavy leather strap to almost any kind of hoof.

Continuing, Green said: "From Germany comes a combination electric iron and cooking stove, invented by a bookkeeper who has affixed a fibre plate atop the iron to protect the hand from the heat. "An old lady in her mid-eighties has patented a new-type of rubber heel. A new departure in airplane propellers is the contribution of a convict-inventor, while another member of the creative guild, obsessed with the perpetual motion idea, has patented a device which he claims is its very essence."

Joseph J. Grego, president of the association, told the executive enactment of this legislation would afford a better basis of competition between the railroads and the bus lines and would afford employment to a number of persons on many roads who otherwise will be out of work.

Sore Throat?

Not if he gargles when he gets home, with Bayer Aspirin! Three tablets crushed in a little water, one good gargle, and the soreness is gone; the danger of infection reduced. If your throat ever tickles after you've been out in the cold or damp, gargle as soon as you can find some Bayer Aspirin. Take it for any cold; two tablets at the first sniffle. For headaches, neuralgia, neuritis, or rheumatism. Instant relief from all such pain. Perfectly harmless, if it's genuine aspirin; the tablet stamped Bayer will not depress the heart. All druggists.

Two McKeesport Men Being Held For "Bombings"

State Police Find Powder And Fuses In Machine Driven By Men Toward Pittsburgh

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26.—While state police continued the probe into numerous bombings in the tri-state district in recent months, two McKeesport men were being held for court today.

They were Dominick Labelle, 27, and August Shiva, 29. According to state police, the men's automobile contained 35 pounds of powder and three fuses when it was stopped on the Lincoln highway. The men were formally charged with transportation of explosives without a license.

Authorities maintained that the powder and fuses were assembled to form a bomb.

Both men maintained a rigid silence under police grilling. They refused to explain the powder or the fuses. The car was said to have been enroute to Pittsburgh.

Vets Seek Rooms For Toy Mission

Hope To Carry Out Activity On Year-Round Basis In New Castle

Rooms are being sought by the Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for their Toy Mission activity, so that this can be carried out on a year-round basis.

An offer of a property has been made to the post which is now being considered by the members of the post. If quarters can be secured, they will be kept open at certain times and people can bring broken and discarded toys to the place, where they will be repaired and stored away awaiting the approach of the next Christmas season.

The Vets did a very fine piece of work last Christmas providing toys for 1,763 children in 544 families. There were 21 families whose circumstances were investigated, but for whom it was impossible to provide toys because the supply became exhausted.

Unions Voting On Wage
Proposal From Chicago Parley

DECISION NEAR IN WAGE CONFERENCE

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—While the nation eagerly awaited the outcome of the joint conference between railway capital and labor, the meeting stood stalemated today.

The conference was temporarily adjourned while the executives of the twenty-one railway labor unions convened to consider the ten per cent voluntary wage reduction for one year sought by the committee of nine presidents representing the rail capital of the country.

Ten of the twenty-one unions voted on the wage reduction request last night. It was learned today. Outcome of their vote was not divulged. The remaining eleven unions were scheduled to arrive at a decision today.

Statement Refused
The labor heads refused to issue an official statement, but intimated they felt the committee of railroad executives had failed to treat the employees fairly on the labor demands for employment stabilization.

David B. Robertson, chairman of the labor executives, said today none of the labor groups is satisfied with the position taken by the railroad presidents on the labor relief program.

Presidents Berated
From another union executive it was learned the president's committee was severely berated for failure to grant the concessions asked by labor.

Despite the dissatisfaction, it was thought the unions may accept the wage clash at their meetings today. Several of the labor leaders were reported as saying "we'd better take what we can get."

The labor groups were to conclude their sessions today and reconvene with the president's committee in the afternoon.

PASS $33,000 IN HOSPITAL FUND CAMPAIGN TODAY

luncheon in The Castleton was over 100, practically every team made a report, and if the report was not large in dollars, in some instances, back of the amount was a lot of genuine effort and a lot of small subscriptions.

Division Reports
The report of the various divisions follows:

Automobiles	$ 212
Financial	1133
General	200
Industrial	845
Mercantile	386
Official	184
Organization	50
Public Service	1634
Professional	660
Real Estate	80
Special Gifts	6000

Today's Total$11,384
Some slight variance in each day's total will be shown inasmuch as the totals reported at the noon luncheon sometimes have duplications and errors. For this reason the true grand total up to now may not run over $33,200.

Patterson Speaks
The enthusiasm manifest today shows an interest in the campaign which will not be satisfied with anything but a victorious finish to this campaign. Attorney Clarence A. Patterson started the enthusiasm today with a short address which in the parlance of the prize ring "carried a punch in each hand."

Mr. Patterson took but little time for his address but he pounded home some salient truths about the campaign that will bear results. "There is no need my arguing the need of the Jameson Memorial Hospital," said Mr. Patterson, "that is fundamental. What would you do, what would I do if the hospital were not there? How much is it worth to us to know that the hospital is there, ready at a moment's notice to care for us?"

"Every person now working is able to do something for this institution according to their means. There is just one thing to do with this campaign and that is to put it over. See your prospects, urge them to make contributions in keeping with their means and keep plugging."

In opening the meeting, General Chairman Fred L. Rentz thanked the team workers for their presence and said "yesterday I was afraid the Rotary Club had swelled our attendance to undue proportions. Today we hardly notice any difference in the attendance. Won't you keep this splendid attendance up for this is part of this campaign, that we have a goodly crowd here every day."

Among the features of today's report was that of the Public Utilities Division. H. B. Richards, leader of the division announced that O. E. Flora of the Electric sub-division had a "small" report to make. Mr. Flora reported $1634 for the Pennsylvania Power Company and employees as a partial total.

In a letter to Fred L. Rentz, Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson sent in her subscription for $2620. From a sick bed in Atlantic City Marcus Feuchtwanger sent in a subscription for $400. Mrs. Lucy B. Henderson sent $1500 and Miss Florence Henderson $400.

BUGLE CORPS OF VETS WILL MEET

Rehearsals of the Harry L. McBride post bugle and drum corps will be held this evening in the hall of J. G. Harvey, mayor of Hazelton, Pa., who is known to many people of this city, especially those who have held public office here. His death occurred last night at seven o'clock. He had served four terms as mayor of Hazelton, Pa., and was president of the League of Third-Class Cities in 1928 and 1929.

For every rated room above 6 rooms, 5 units are added to the first and second blocks. In arriving at the room count, the following rooms are omitted—basements, attics, bathrooms, closets and upstairs halls.

The proposed rate will mean a saving to all customers in 6 room houses, using light and range, or light and refrigerator, or both, whose total consumption of energy exceeds 65 units per month. This point is somewhat higher for homes larger than 6 rooms.

In announcing the rate Mr. Round said:—

"It has always been the policy of our company to render the most dependable service at the lowest possible cost consistent with proper standards of safety, and domestic rates to the ordinary customer have been particularly favorable, in fact less than the average for the country as a whole. With the intensive development in the electrical appliance field, through the cooperation of the company and dealer, we have noticed our rates for the larger domestic user getting out of line, and for sometime thought has been given to a possible rearrangement of schedules to correct the condition, which this filing will do."

"The primary purpose in filing the new rate is to make a larger use of electric service available, and we think it worthy of note that under this proposal approximately $15,000.00 per year will be saved by the people of New Castle and vicinity. Nevertheless it is the expectation that greater use will be stimulated, which will ultimately permit further reductions."

"As an example of what the new rate will do consider the customer with a six room house, using 120 units per month (a unit means a kilowatt hour). Under the present rate the cost would be 120x6 cents, less 5 per cent, or $6.84 net. Under the new rate the first 30 units cost $2.10, the next 30 units $1.50, all over or the next 60 units $1.80, total $5.40. If the customer uses 200 units, his bill would be $7.80 compared to $11.40.

"The proposed rates are voluntarily offered, will be optional with the customers to whom the rate is available, and will effect a saving of approximately $15,000.00 which, plus the $8,632.00, already cut from the street lighting, total a voluntary saving to the citizens of New Castle of approximately $24,000.00."

"This reduction has been made in spite of the fact that the costs entering into utility service have not been affected by the drop in commodity price levels, which has so greatly reduced the costs of other industries. Fixed charges, which represent by far the greatest single expense in electric service, continue on the same level, notwithstanding the decrease in electric power consumption. The cost of labor and supplies used by utility companies has shown only a minor decrease. The cost of new construction has diminished, but new construction now is mostly in the rural areas, and through the operation of the rural extension rule, any savings are passed directly to the rural customer."

"The record of the special legislative committee showed that for the smaller customers the rates in New Castle were the lowest in the state. With the putting into effect of the new rates, about February 1st, we believe the rates for all classes will be not only comparable but favorable to our city."

To End A Cough In A Hurry, Mix This at Home

To quickly end stubborn coughs due to colds, it is important to soothe the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble. For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any drugist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, saves money, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

District Highway Engineer
Tells Of Work Being Done

ROTARIANS HAVE AN OPEN MEETING

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 26.—District Engineer Kloos of the State Highway Department was the speaker of the evening here Monday evening when the Rotary Club of New Wilmington held an open meeting to which was invited business and professional men of the northern end of the county.

Mr. Kloos is in charge of Allegheny, Westmoreland, Beaver and Lawrence Counties and at the present time is developing as rapidly as possible the building of rural roads under Governor Pinchot's 20,000 mile system.

State Owned Roads?
The taking over by the state of 20,000 miles of highway in Pennsylvania in addition to the thousands of miles already on the state system was a wonderful forward step," said Mr. Kloos. "It means that the farmer is actually coming out of the mud. It means transportation for thousands of people who a few years ago were apparently hopelessly back on the mud roads. More, it means employment for thousands of men at a time when unemployment is a problem in our state."

"Here in Lawrence County we have surfaced approximately 25 miles of highway under the 20,000 mile plan," said Mr. Kloos. "Not concrete surfacing of course, but a light type of construction which is smooth and hard and costs about an average of $5,000 per mile to construct. In addition to this we spend an average of $100 per year for maintenance of the balance of the roads on the state system so that we spend about $150,000 per year in this county."

"Some day, it seems to me, the state will take over all highways inside its borders. Michigan has done it, so has North Carolina. It seems to me to be the equitable thing to do. Highways should be built and maintained upon fees coming directly from the people who use them, the motorists. Take over all highways in the state and you can remove some of the property tax."

Introduced By McElwee
Mr. Kloos was introduced by Assemblyman William McElwee, Jr., who represents the second district of Lawrence County in the Pennsylvania General Assembly. The meeting was in charge of Dr. S. E. Calhoun who introduced some of the guests present. At the close of the speaking program, Uncle Cyrus and Aunt Samantha, two homespun humorists and musicians entertained the crowd with some of the old time classics like "Golden Slippers" and "Turkey in the Straw" plus some wise cracking that brought a lot of laughs.

Panhandling is to be stopped here and Mayor Charles B. Mayne started on what he believes may prove effective in stopping it here.

There appeared before him this morning in police court, one Albert Garee, who claims to be a watchmaker, but whose principal business according to the police in the past year, has been panhandling the public and spending considerable time in the city and county jail as a result.

Garee had the misfortune yesterday afternoon to seek some money from a woman in a car, who happened to be the relative of Constable Tally of Wampum, who had just stepped from the other side of the car. He noticed the incident and came round and arrested Garee and turned him over to the city police.

Garee attempted to explain that he was merely seeking money for a cup of coffee, when the affair occurred. Mayor Mayne was not inclined to believe him and told him so.

"Before I became mayor," said Mayor Mayne, "I heard of a bird that panhandled, especially with women in cars and who was often very insulting. Since I am in this office, I have found that you are the fellow. You have been before me four times already and I understand that the city spent fifty dollars of its good money keeping you in the county jail last year. It is a matter that I can no longer neglect and I herewith sentence you to five months and twenty-nine days in the Workhouse."

It was the first time that such a sentence had been pronounced in the local police court in some time and it can be said that quite a number looked up startled when they heard it pronounced.

Evangelistic services at the Central Christian church are continuing to attract large congregations. Last evening's service was unique in many ways, due to the fact that the persons attending were invited to bring their Bibles, big, small, rare or new, user or unused.

Many Bibles were brought and Messrs John Bell and McMillan acted as judges. The smallest Bible was the property of J. H. Harper, the largest of Mrs. Clarence Frey, the oldest (116 years) the property of Mrs. Downs and the most unusual (79 years old) the property of Mrs. Sidney Zeigler.

Charles Warren Johnstone, pastor evangelistic, delivered a sermon on the topic "The Last Book," which proved an inspiration to all. Mrs. Alzada Johnstone assisted in the services. Special music was sung by the choir of 30 voices with David Lewis directing.

The sermon this evening will be on the topic "The Deity of Jesus."

Ellwood Ends First Half With Rochester Five

Locals Installed As Favorites Tonight In Battle With Taylor Men

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 26.—Ellwood City High cagers will trek to Rochester tonight to battle Coach Taylor's quintet in the final game of the first half.

Much hope has been instilled in the followers of the local team since their astounding victory over Beaver Falls last Friday. The squad has already taken a different attitude in its workouts. Coach Lloyd is working his schedule with a victory which is really a large assignment on Rochester's small floor.

While the locals were defeating Beaver Falls last Friday night the Taylor men were giving New Castle a real battle which marks them as a dangerous foe tonight. The locals are placing no weight on the fact that this was Rochester's fourth straight defeat. They are giving them all the consideration a difficult opponent should receive. The records of the two teams would instill the locals as the favorites but not much credence is given to advance dope.

Eddie Zanieski, Rochester's new found star will wear watching in the contest tonight. This boy scored four baskets against a worthy opponent as Lasky, New Castle, Coach Taylor has also found it difficult to find a combination that would click. His last game with New Castle practically solved his problem. His startling lineup in all probability will have Hettler and Kaszer at the forward berths, Eddie Zanieski at center and Bittner and B. Grimm at the guards. Coach Lloyd without doubt will use the men that proved so effective against Beaver Falls. Latiano and Johnson will be at the forwards, Barnes at center and Captain Dudick and Soccolotti at the guards.

This remarkable photo, made on the Zuckelfall course at Schreiberhau, Germany, shows a four-man bob-sled at the exact moment when, traveling at terrific speed, it shot off the course at a dangerous "S" curve and crashed into the little group of spectators massed at that point. Such was the velocity of the sled that the force with which it struck killed three spectators and injured seventeen.

Democrats Offer Tax On Imported Oil For Revenue

Democratic Leaders Propose Duty On Imported Oil As Substitute

OIL PRODUCERS ARE SATISFIED

Estimate Oil Tax Would Bring $75,000,000 Revenue Yearly

By WILLIAM S. NEAL, International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—A general tax on imported oil and a specific duty upon automobile oil were proposed today for consideration of the House Ways and Means Committee, charged with raising taxes. The proposals emerged from efforts of Democratic leaders to find substitutes for the many miscellaneous taxes urged by the treasury, including taxes on low-priced admissions and stamp taxes.

Tentative Shape
With the program of the Democratic controlled committee still in tentative shape, leaders emphasized their desire to restrict excise to a few commodities that would produce huge revenue. It is estimated the oil taxes would bring in $75,000,000 a year.

Wirt Franklin head of the Independent Oil producers, was slated to back the tax on foreign oil. The tax, it is argued, would produce revenue and meet the demand of independents.

Democratic leaders were determined to revise the Mellon program by eliminating many of the minor taxes. Rep. Crisp (D) of Georgia predicted that if the committee can select three of four commodities which would furnish large revenues, many of the treasury's proposals will be rejected.

In the face of wide-spread opposition, it is expected the automobile tax levy of five per cent proposed by the treasury will be dropped.

Crisp said he doubted if Congress would approve the automobile tax. Strong opposition, however, has arisen to the proposal to substitute a one-cent gasoline tax, with the result that the question will remain unanswered officially for a few days.

McElwee Seeks To Be Re-elected

Legislator From Second Lawrence County District Announces Candidacy

PRIMARIES OCCUR DURING SPRING

WILLIAM McELWEE, JR.

To the Republican Voters of the Second Legislative District of Lawrence County:

At this time I desire to announce my name as a candidate for the Republican nomination, to succeed myself as the member of the House of Representatives, in the Legislature of Pennsylvania, from the Second District of Lawrence County.

My grandfather settled on a farm in what is now Union Township in 1825. On that same farm both my father and I were born. Except for four years that I lived in Mercer County near New Wilmington, I have lived my entire life in the district which I wish to represent.

My general education was obtained in the public schools of this county, and at Westminster College, from which institution I hold two degrees. My legal education was obtained in the office of S. W. Dana, in New Castle, and in a general practice in this County.

I favor progress. I believe that Pennsylvania ought to keep abreast of the times, but at the same time it ought to be careful that it does not overstep itself. Movements that heap higher burdens of taxation on the taxpayers, or centralize power in bureaus or departments of state government, to the exclusion of local self-government, are not real progress.

The local people have a right to control their own local affairs in all matters that involve only a choice between several rigid policies of administration. I do not say that local option is good in matters involving moral issues. Neither do I think that the moral right or the moral wrong of a thing is determined by the number of people that want it.

In 1930 I was elected to the office which I now seek. As a member of the House during both the regular and the special sessions of 1931, I supported the measures that seemed most beneficial to Lawrence County, including the 20,000 mile road program and the laws reducing the penalties and extending the time of sale of sealed lands for taxes.

In both the regular and the special sessions, in company with all the representatives from this senatorial district, as well as those from Mercer County, I labored hard and successfully for the legislation that made possible the completion of the Pymatuning Water Conservation Project. I was sponsor of the bill for this purpose that became a law at the special session.

In the regular session, I prepared and was sponsor of the following bills which became laws:

(a) That modernizing the law relating to live stock damaging the crops of farmers.

(b) That requiring notice to be given that decisions have been rendered in Workmen's Compensation Cases, so that the workmen could not be deprived of their rights without notice of the filing of a decision against them, as was the law prior to this Act.

(c) That by which the rights of litigants in the courts could not be taken away by the manifestly unjust requirement that they must examine into evidence and information exclusively in the knowledge of and under the control of their adversaries. Many an unjust "snap" judgment has been taken under the old law.

In the special session I prepared and was sponsor of and succeeded in getting unanimously passed in the House, a bill that would have permitted poor districts, instead of first making paupers out of the unfortunate, to give employment to persons entitled to relief and pay them in wages the money that they otherwise would spend for such relief. This bill, had it become a law, would not have increased taxes at all, but simply would have permitted the use of money now available for relief, to be used for relief without making paupers out of the persons receiving the relief.

Believing that my services in the Legislature during the last session entitled me to be returned to the Legislature, according to the long established custom in the Second District of this County, I respectfully ask your support.

The primaries will be held April 26, 1932.

Respectfully submitted, WILLIAM McELWEE, JR. POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

NEW MAIL TRIP COVERED TODAY

Delivery Brings Early P. M. Service To Downtown, Officials Say

Commencing this afternoon, downtown stores and offices were to receive a new 2 o'clock delivery trip that will combine service formerly given by an afternoon and late afternoon trip of letter carriers, following a switch in the arrival hours of mail trains from Pittsburgh.

The new trip will deposit Pittsburgh mail that never reached here until late afternoon in offices shortly after 2 p. m. It will take care of the final afternoon mail shipment from that city.

City postmen in the downtown area were covering new routes in conformance with changes made to suit the new delivery.

Post office officials said the changes are only tentative. They were inaugurated partly because of the train schedule revision and partly because of the abolishment of an auxiliary delivery route.

A betterment in downtown mail service will come about with today's new delivery plan, postal authorities said.

Coleman B. Marks, the sanitary engineer in charge of sanitation and headquarters for the camp is a former commanding officer of Mr. Brice. During the World War Mr. Brice served as a sergeant under the then Captain Marks. He has visited Mr. Brice in New Castle several times since the war.

Produce Men, Banana Handlers, Hold Little Fear For Lurking 'Spiders' As Cargo Is Moved

Choice bananas for local buyers, two heaping carloads of them as green as the mid-summer grass, are dispatched twice a month from far-off points to the storage room of a local fruit house in refrigerator cars—and the men who handle them claim there's at least one of those vicious-looking tarantulas in almost every cargo.

The four who were unloading a freight car in the Grove street produce district yesterday never let this bother them a bit, though—in fact, they seldom think about the spiders.

Stock after stock was carried from the car Monday by the men who were thinking more of getting the shipment moved to the ripening room at the company's quarters than of watching out for the supposedly deadly tarantulas, which crave to hide underneath a banana stock in cold weather.

Will Heat Cargo.

The four truckmen, Frank Ventrella, Charles Ventrella, Charles Ventura and Charles Seaduto, were transferring the banana carload from the freight car to the company's warehouse, where, under temperatures of 60 or 70 degrees, the cold will fully ripen within three or four days.

It takes the crew just about an hour and a half to unload a car. "When we come onto a tarantula we get a bottle and make our capture," one of the group said. "They don't bother you if it's real warm and you're too close. When Excitement reigned for a brief time in city hall yesterday afternoon when Mayor Charles Mayne forcibly ejected George (Rocky) Lewis from the mayor's private office.

Lewis called upon the mayor and during the conference it is said the mayor ordered Lewis to leave.

He refused it is alleged and the mayor forcibly ejected Lewis. Quite a struggle ensued, reports have it.

New Castle--Butler Will Battle Friday

Winner Of Crucial Contest At Butler Will Lead League

Local Train Monday Night—Butler High Tough Foe

Basketball fans of this vicinity are in for a treat this week when the New Castle high school basketball team meets Butler high, Friday night at Butler. The winner of the game will lead the Section Three race. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh ordered his cohorts through the first workout of the week Monday night on the George Washington floor.

New Castle and Butler came through in fine shape Friday night. New Castle took the measure of Rochester while the Butler passers were extended to score a 13-12 victory over New Brighton. The Red and Black attired cagers handed the Brighteners a 17-12 trimming here. If that means anything.

Comparing the scores of the two teams, the New Castle lads have the best average offensively as well as defensively. In seven contests New Castle has found the rims for 157 points to 98 for their opponents. Offensively the Senior high boys average 23 3/4 points per game. Defensively the average is 14 points per tilt. Butler has won five straight games while Coach Bridenbaugh's team has captured six consecutive battles.

Coach Heinzer watched the Tin City Ramblers pound out an 18-11 triumph over Youngstown South last week. He also had with him several of his players. All this week the Butler coach will drill his team on the defense and offense of the local team. He jotted down all the good and weak points that eve and this week he is preparing a puzzling attack for New Castle. Butler reports inform local officials.

The Butler team was spotted last Friday night against New Brighton and according to word, looked good. The defense of both teams explains why the score was only 13-12. New Castle was extended to trim New Brighton by five points 17-12. The local team came through in the final minutes as did the Butlerites. Thursday afternoon the school boys will terminate drills and then rest until battle time.

Interest is increasing as the battle nears. According to rumors the Butler gy will be packed to capacity to watch the teams battle it out for the Section Three lead. New Castle and Butler top the other clubs with four wins and no losses.

"Gorilla" Jones Becomes Champ

Boxing Association Middleweight Championship Toga Is Won By Jones

(International News Service) MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 26.—The National Boxing Association's middleweight boxing crown was perched atop the kinky head of William "Gorilla" Jones today. A technical knockout over Adonne Piazza of Italy, in the sixth round of a scheduled ten round fight here last night, won the association's title for the Tennessee negro.

Jones arms worked like triphammers from the opening of the fight and after the second round the Italian didn't have a chance.

Butler Phalanx Team Throws Scare Into Saints At Local Floor Monday

ST. MARY'S GIRLS TRIM BLUE BIRDS

St. Marys basketball team won from the Butler Phalanx quintet last night at St. Marys floor 34 to 28. The Butlerites threw a scare into the Saints. In the first game of the evening the St. Mary's girls defeated the Blue Birds 12 to 6.

The score of the big game at the first half was 18-14. The Saints had taken an early lead only to have the Butler team climb up slowly toward the end of the half. In the last half of the game the visitors came along slowly and were crowding the Saints rather close when the time limit was up.

Kulich, Lackey and M. Betty were the leading scorers of the game. Manager "Joe" Travers announced today that the House of David team which was scheduled for Thursday night at the local floor, has been cancelled.

In the preliminary game the playing of Miss Confer and Miss Dagnon featured for the Saints, while for the Bluebirds the playing of Miss Patton was the best.

Battalino Will Meet Petrolle

Two of "Fightingest" Men In Ring Today Will Battle For 15 Rounds

By LES CONKLIN International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Billy Petrolle and Christopher Battalino, pound for pound two of the "fightingest" men in the ring, will meet in a 15-round bout here under arrangements being made today by Promoter James J. Johnston of Madison Square Garden.

Pete Rilly has accepted the bout for Battalino. Johnston verbally closed the other half of the match in a phone convention with Jack Hurley, Petrolle's manager, in St. Paul. Contracts are expected to be signed and a date set after Hurley arrives here tomorrow.

The weight limit for Petrolle will be 140 pounds. This means Battalino, who made 126 pounds a couple of months ago for the last defense of his featherweight title, will make a spectacular hurdle over the junior lightweight and lightweight divisions to take on a legitimate contender.

"Bat" Too Heavy Battalino defeated all challengers for his featherweight title and Petrolle has ruined a flock of lightweight and welterweight contenders. Neither boxer could get a bout with Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, so they are going to mix in what should be a fistie tidbit.

"Bat" was supposed to make 126 pounds for Low Feldman here last month. When he came in at 135 3/4, he was suspended and his title vacated in this state.

Even if reinstated here as champion, the Hartford Italian would not be allowed to go out of his class to fight Petrolle.

Battalino and his manager, Rilly, knew this when they agreed to meet Petrolle here. The inference is that "Bat" is going to gracefully relinquish his featherweight title when he meets Freddie Miller in Cincinnati tomorrow night.

WESTMINSTER COURT TEAM IS IDLE UNTIL SATURDAY; PLAY WAYNESBURG

Bought by Yanks Jackets To Be Met In Waynesburg On Saturday Night

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 26.—Tired and worn after three hard games last week, the Westminster College basketball team will not see action this week until Saturday night when Waynesburg will be met in a crucial conference game at Waynesburg.

The Titan players are being kept busy this week in first semester final exams, and will not find much time for practice drills. Waynesburg has a strong team this year, and on the Jackets' home court they are hard to beat.

Coach John Lawther believes this contest will be one of the hardest to win on the Titan schedule. He is not, however, overlooking the fact that it will be almost impossible to defeat Allegheny, Geneva and Bethany on foreign courts. But the Waynesburg game this Saturday is the one at hand, so it naturally looms as the biggest threat at the moment.

Last week saw the Titans improve to win three contests handily, two of them on foreign courts. With but one game this week, the squad will get a chance to rest. Even though the Titans defeated John Carroll by a 62-23 score, the men were very tired, and need a few days of rest, Coach Lawther believes.

The next home contest for the Titans will be on February 6, when Waynesburg will be played in the second conference contest. On February 9, all the roads in the section will be crowded with cars on the way to New Wilmington to see the great, undefeated Allegheny team clash with the Titans.

Three Games At Wampum Tonight

Wampum Merchants Will Meet St. Andrews—Reserves And Hearts Battle

Fans of Wampum will be treated to three basketball contests tonight on the Wampum Opera house floor. In the feature attraction of the evening the Wampum Merchants meet the St. Andrews passers.

In the first game the Joe Brown passers oppose Mahoningtown and in the second battle the Wampum Reserve will be pitted against the Sacred Hearts. The first game starts at 7:15 o'clock.

Gersons To Play At Youngstown, O.

The Gersons will go to Youngstown Wednesday night for a game with the fast Rodans team in the Jewish League. The Rodans must win this game to stay in the first half running. The Gersons can break even in the first half of the league by a victory over the Rodans, so a good game is looked for.

In the preliminary game the undefeated B. M. D. team will play the Better Service team. The Gerson-Rodan game starts at 9:30 o'clock. Tonight the Gersons will hold a practice session at the "Y" at 8:30 o'clock. All players are asked to try and get to the practice. Coach Nolte has a few changes in the line-up, it is understood.

BOSTROM HAS ONE RECORD SEWED UP

Helge Bostrom, defenseman for the Chicago Black Hawks, National Hockey league, claims he has one record sewed up. He has just been released from a New York hospital where 140 stitches were required to repair several tendons above his left ankle, cut in a game at New York a month ago.

LOUGHRAN PLANS REST IN MEXICO

Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight who was recently stopped by Steve Hamas, plans to sail today for Mexico and after a month's rest intends to try a comeback. Until Hamas knocked out Loughran only Jack Sharkey had turned the trick.

GEORGE CHIP HELPS TO CONDITION JOYCE

George Chip, former world's middleweight, is helping Jimmy Joyce condition Billy Joyce, Dime's good looking 140-pounder. Every day the ex-champion dons the gloves with Joyce and his aid is helping Dime considerably.

ERNIE SCHAFF LIKES TO PUNISH ICE CREAM

Fighters have to forego many kinds of food while training for a fight but after a battle they generally go on an eating spree. For instance they claim Ernie Schaff eats as many as three quarts of ice cream following a battle in the ring.

CHARLIE WALSH TO REMAIN AS COACH

Charlie (Chile) Walsh will remain as athletic director and head football coach at St. Louis U. for three more years, according to Earl Painter, chairman of the University's athletic board.

SKATES 850 YARDS TO WIN IN 1:44.4

Denver To Become Farm For Cardinals

(International News Service) DENVER, Jan. 26.—The Denver Bears, western league baseball club, will be operated as a "farm" for developing future St. Louis Cardinal players, according to announcement today by Milt Anfenger, president of the local club.

Anfenger said eight players and a manager would be provided by the Cardinals, but the team would remain under Denver ownership.

Olympic Ski-Men of Nippon Limber Up

The prime necessity—nay, essential—for the sport of skiing is snow. Therefore when a new fall replenished the supply recently dissipated by the Spring weather at Lake Placid, N. Y., the international ski team assembled there for the Winter Olympics heaved a big sigh of relief. This photo shows members of the Japanese contingent as they gleefully embarked upon a long hike to toughen up for the coming contests. To look at their carefree expressions one would never imagine that the country is having a war—even if it is only an "unofficial one."

Vanishing Americans

MAJOR BEASLEY MADE A FATAL ERROR IN ASSUMING THAT FORT MIMS WAS IN NO DANGER OF ATTACK FROM THE HOSTILE CREEKS. AT THAT MOMENT IN THE WOODS AROUND THE FORT LURKED A THOUSAND BLOODTHIRSTY BRAVES LED BY THE FEROCIOUS CHIEF WEATHERFORD. © 1931, BY J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

ON AUGUST 30, 1813, WHILE THE GARRISON AND REFUGEES WERE AT DINNER, THE CREEKS ATTACKED. BEASLEY HAD NEGLECTED EVEN THE ORDINARY MEASURES OF SECURITY AND THE GATE STOOD WIDE OPEN. THE STARTLED SENTRIES WERE QUICKLY CUT DOWN AND THE

HOWLING HORDE SWARMED INTO THE FORT. BEASLEY AND HIS MEN DIED FIGHTING. THEN THE SAVAGES FELL UPON THE DEFENSELESS REFUGEES, THE MASSACRE THAT FOLLOWED WAS ONE OF THE MOST TERRIBLE IN THE ANNALS OF THE FRONTIER.

TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY WHITE MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN PERISHED! ONLY 17 WHITES ESCAPED TO CARRY THE TALE OF HORROR. ALL THE NEGROES IN THE FORT WERE SPARED BY THE REDSKINS, BUT CARRIED OFF AS SLAVES.

Pennsylvania Tax Payments Drop Sharply

Are Slightly More Than National Average Federal Government Finds

INCOME TAXES HOLD UP BETTER

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent Of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—If the payment of taxes to Uncle Sam is any index of prosperity, Pennsylvania felt the industrial slump just a bit more than the country in general last year, it would appear from figures made public today by the Treasury Department.

Internal Revenue collected by the federal government from the country as a whole fell off about 34 per cent in 1931 as compared with 1930, according to Treasury data. Such revenue paid by Pennsylvania declined approximately 37 per cent.

Income tax collected by the federal government from the nation dropped more than 40 per cent last year below the 1930 level. Such revenue collected from the Keystone State, on the other hand, shrunk by only a little more than 39 per cent.

Internal Revenue collected by Uncle Sam from the Keystone State in 1930 totaled $231,639,584. In 1931 such payments fell to $145,182,846, a decrease of $86,456,738 or about 37 per cent.

In 1930, Pennsylvania had contributed to the federal vaults $215,329,754 in income tax. Last year such contributions declined to $130,435,622, a loss of $84,894,132 or about 39 per cent.

Corporate income tax collected from Pennsylvania slipped from $118,443,274 in 1930 to $74,324,024 in 1931, and individual income tax fell from $96,886,480 to $56,111,598. Miscellaneous taxes taken by Uncle Sam from the State declined from $16,329,829 in 1930 to $14,747,223 in 1931.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Manhattan tableaux winter:

The mousy little man in the ragged coat, tilting his camera far back in Lexington Ave. to get a straight-up shot of the Chrysler building, and the crowds, as always, gaping up, too, to see what he will film.

Two cab drivers, lounging in the tonneau of an ancient hack, arguing over the respective merits of Brooklyn and Manhattan as working fields while a street urchin darts over from time to time to honk the horn, the drivers too comfortable and interested in their topic to protest.

The lady in the McCoy ermine coat, buying a tube of lipstick in the ten cent store.

The realization that more appointments are kept and made after a glance at the clock atop the Paramount building than through any other time dial in town.

The lady in ermine fluttering along Park avenue at 10 o'clock of cold evening, behind an immense police dog on a leash.

The lovers on the back seats of a Riverside drive bus, poorly dressed, holding hands and staring moodily at the sunset blaze along the Jersey shore.

The two old men bearing signs advertising rival restaurants, strolling along Forty-second street, chatting animatedly and with much laughter.

The poster bearing the likeness of Calvin Coolidge on a newspaper truck, damp with sleety rain and discolored so that Coolidge seems to have a beard and resemble Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister.

John Cobken, manager of the Beaux Arts departments, demonstrating to a group of guests in evening attire the trick elongating bed for tall people he invented.

Bing Crosby entering an elevator backstage at the Paramount, startlingly ghostlike in his white suit and dead-white make-up. (And the reflection that the crowds of high school girls and romantic housewives who used to gather outside that theatre during Rudy Vallee's ascendancy, are notably absent.)

The overcoatless, shuddering old gentleman packing one of those big wooden signs along Broadway, advertising a trip to Miami via auto for $22 and making passersby feel like handing him the price of the journey.

The Second avenue elevated cars, crowded as always inexplicably with children bound for Long Island. Why?

That book store in the Grand Central entrance, packing a crowd before the window with the most original and eye-grabbing displays of any book mart in town. Recently, for no apparent relevance, the window contained a miniature model of a popular make automobile constructed minutely to scale—and the passageway was choked with interested throngs for days, to say nothing of the store. Why should that toy auto sell a book on anatomy? It did.

Although the Social Register is extremely finicky about admitting anyone smeared with greasepaint to its august pages, the newest whimsy of the town's bluebloods is taking up personable young movie stars and giving them a dizzy rush. Buddy Rogers and Dough Fairbanks Jr. have lately been swirled about in the typically uppity manner.

HOP, SKIP AND JUMP
Mrs. Vanderbilt has never discharged any of the servants the commodore employed during his lifetime. . . People who aren't color blind, even have great difficulty differentiating between green and blue. . . In certain shades it takes an expert to be sure.

Long Island real estate has a higher per capita valuation than Manhattan's. . . Musical bracelets now tinkle down Park avenue, rather startling at first, but sweetly pastoral when you get used to them. . . Now there's no excuse for any man misplacing his wife.

A great many men passengers on incoming lines wear berets until the ship docks and then sheepishly stow them away. . . I hear Havana has suffered least of any of the resorts this winter, but the word from Palm Beach is not so bright. . . The first reunion dinner of the World Editorial Alumni association saw many of the veterans of the great old journal red-eyed and snuffy with memories when it was held not long ago at the Park Central.

Makes You Lose Unhealthy Fat

Mrs. Ethel Smith of Norwich, Conn., writes: "I lost 15 lbs. with my first bottle of Kruschen. Being on night duty it was hard to sleep days but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat, too."

To take off fat—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a few cents—get it at Eckerd's Cut Rate, New Castle Drug Co., or any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the SAFE and harmless way to lose fat—your money gladly returned.

Don't accept anything but Kruschen because you must reduce safely.
